The Science of Health!
Every Man his own Physician.
HOLLOWAY'S PILLS
—AND—
Holloway's Ointment.

Disorders of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

The stomach is the great center which influences the health or disease of the system—abused or debilitated by excess—indigestion, offensive breath and physical prostration are the natural consequences. Allied to the brain, it is the source of headaches, mental depression, nervous complaints and unrefreshing sleep. The Liver becomes affected and generates bilious disorders, pains in the side, etc. The bowels sympathize by costiveness, diarrhœa and Dysentery. The principal action of these Pills is on the stomach and the liver, lungs, bowels and kidneys participate in their recuperative and regenerative operation.

Erysipelas and Salt Rheum

Are two of the most common and virulent disorders prevalent on this continent. To these the Ointment is especially antagonistic; its modus operandi is first to eradicate the venom and then complete the cure.

Bad Legs, Old Sores, and Ulcers,

Cases of many years' standing, that have pertinaciously refused to yield to any other remedy or treatment, have invariably succumbed to a few applications of this powerful unguent.

Eruptions of the Skin,

Arising from a bad state of the blood, or chronic diseases, are eradicated and a clear and transparent surface regained by the restorative action of this Ointment. It surpasses many of the cosmetics and other toilet appliances in its power to dispel rashes and other disfigurements of the face.

Female Complaints,

Whether in the young or old, married or single at the dawn of Womanhood, or the turn of life, these tonic medicines display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible in the health of the patient. Being a purely vegetable preparation. They are a safe and reliable remedy for all classes of Females in every condition of health and station of life.

Piles and Fistula.

Every form and feature of these prevalent and stuborn diseases is eradicated locally and entirely by the use of this emollient; warm fomentations should precede its application. Its healing qualities will be found to be thorough and invariable.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases: Bunions, burns, chapped hands, chilblains, fistula, gout, lumbago, mercurial eruptions, piles, rheumatism, ringworm, salt-rheum, scalds, skin diseases, swelled glands, sore legs, sore breasts, sore heads, sore throats, sores of all kinds, sprains, stiff joints, tetter, ulcers, venereal sores and wounds of all kinds.

CAUTION.—See that the words "Holloway, New York and London," appear as a watermark on every leaf of the book of directions which enfolds each box or pot. No others are genuine. A handsome reward given for information leading to the detection of counterfeiters of the medicines and venders of the deceptive articles, knowing them to be such. Sold at the manufactory, No. 80 Maiden Lane, and by druggists and medicine dealers throughout the world. A great saving by taking the large sizes. Full instructions with every box or pot. f6-1y

Looking Up.

"I have no faith," she said, and sighed;
"This gracious blessing is denied,
And daily struggles leave me weak,
And farther from the goal I seek."

I read her heart, and knew her fears
Were heightened by a mist of tears,
That veiled her spirit like a shroud,
As over tiny graves she bowed.

'Twas faith that made us yield them up;
Through faith alone we drank the cup;
While on her lips, so sore bereft,
The bitter taste alone is left.

"I have no faith," she sighed; "the way
Seems longer, darker, every day;
This yearning heart I fain would still
And keep submissive to His will.

His loving presence I bespeak;
His promised recompense I seek;
Yet still with doubts and fears I cope;
I have no faith—I have no hope."

Dear love, forget thyself awhile;
Thou dost obscure the Savior's smile;
Thyself and all thy woes, my sweet,
Have made a tangle for thy feet.

Faith, lovely blossom, is not found
By eyes that grovel on the ground;
And hearts have measurement of bliss
By what they gain and what they miss.

Look up! and let the radiant Cross
Take from thy heart all sense of loss;
From out the dust of earth arise
And on thy Savior fix thine eyes.

A holy light illumed her face,
The outward sign of inward grace;
She looked, and saw her Savior there,
And found an answer to her prayer.

An Unfortunate Mistake.

Mark Twain says that while he was stopping in Chicago, he accidentally overheard a young man give a friend the following account of a little unpleasantness that happened to him while engaged in a matrimonial speculation:

No, she wouldn't marry me. You were misinformed. It was broken off, and in the saddest way. I was not in the least to blame, upon my word and honor, though neither the girl nor her father, the deacon, ever, believed, or ever forgave me. It was during the big election canvass, when Lincoln ran for the first time. Two-thirds of the deacon's honest soul were in religion, and the other third was in politics—Lincoln man. I never was a scoffer at religion in my life, but he half believed I was. Well, there was to be a political pow-wow in the village church where he lived, on Thursday night, and the deacon was to preside. I never thought anything about the matter, but Williams hailed me one afternoon, offered me a seat in his buggy, and away we started. It was Wednesday—curse the Almanac—but we never thought of it. Going into town, some devlish instinct put into my head that it would help my case along if I marched into church with a rail on my shoulder, seeing that the deacon and the girl would both be there. So I got a rail, and we came in shouting and making a grand to do generally. As I went by the church window, I caught a glimpse of her bonnet and plenty of other bonnets, and I was happy. I shouldered my rail and marched in. The houseful of men and women were all quiet, and the old deacon was standing up in the altar saying something. Splendid! I went a booming up the aisle with my rail, swinging my hat and whooping:

"Hoo-ray for old Abe—hoo-ray for the Illinois rail-splitter!"

But never a yelp out of that audience. I quit right in my tracks. The deacon said:

"Sir, we are engaged in addressing the Throne of Grace. This unseemly exhibition is ill-fitted to the solemnities of a prayer meeting."

I never felt so sick in my life, John. I never felt so much like taking a walk. And don't you know, I'd have give a million dollars for somebody to take that rail out for me. But no. I had to sneak out with it myself. I threw it down and went up to where there was a board fence, and practiced climbing backward and forward through a knot-hole for as much as an hour. But my goose was cooked, you know. It was all up between me and that family.

A TOSSING PREACHER.—A preacher in a frontier settlement had been collecting money for some church object. There was still some $20 wanting, and after vain efforts to make up the deficiency, he plainly intimated, as he locked the church door one day after service, that he intended to have that said $20 before any of them left the house, at the same time he set the example by tossing $5 on the table; another put down a dollar, another half of a dollar, another a quarter of a dollar, and so on. The parties read out every now and then the state of the funds:

"Thar's seven and a half, my friends. Thar's nine and a quarter. Ten and six bits are all that are in the hat, friends and Christian brethren."

Slowly it mounted up.

"Twelve and a half. Fourteen. Fifteen. Sixteen and three bits." And so it went on until it stuck at $19 50.

"It only wants fifty cents, friends to make up the amount. Will nobody make it up?"

Everybody had subscribed, and not a cent more was forthcoming. Silence reigned, and how long it might have lasted it is difficult to say, had not a half dollar been passed through the open window, and a rough, explanatory, shouted:

"Here, parson, there is your money; let out my gal. I'm about tired of waitin' for her!"

AN incident is related of Col. Jack Hays that in one of the battles of Mexico a general officer asked him how a certain impregnable place was to be taken. "I can't tell you, General," said Hayes, "but if you want it done, I'll do it." "Take your own way," said the commander. Hays dashed off to meet his Texans; stopped long enough to drop a few of his thrilling words, and then at the head of his men, went through a galling fire and carried the work. On being asked afterwards "how" he did it, he replied that he "couldn't tell for the life of him; he didn' know it was done till he got inside, and how he got there he was just as uncertain."

A GENTLEMAN regretting the loss of his first, in the presence of his second wife, was told that no one had more reason to wish his former spouse alive than she had.

The Daughter-in-law.

"I never, never will forgive him," said old Mr. Remington, solemnly depositing his great gold spectacles in their green leather case.

"Nor I, either," sobbed Mrs. Remington, heedless of the unwonted disorder of her cap-strings. "To marry that bold, dashing city girl without so much as waiting for our permission."

"But you know, my dear," suggested the old gentleman, "we shouldn't have given it to him if he had waited half a century."

"Certainly we should not," said Mrs. Remington, emphatically. "To think of our only child treating us so cavalierly, Abel, the only one we have got in the world."

"He has made his bed and must lie on it," said the old man sternly. "I will never receive his gay city bride here, and so I shall write to him immediately. We are scarcely fine enough for a city daughter-in-law."

As he spoke, the old man picked up a crumpled letter that he had thrown on the floor in the first paroxysm of his anger, and smoothed out its folds with mechanical touch.

"Why, only think of it, Abel," said Mrs. Remington, "Mahala Buckley served for six weeks in this girl's cousin's family, and she says Evlyn Sayre could smoke a little paper cigar just like a man, and used to go skating with her dress all tucked up to the top of her boots, and drove a barouche, with the groom behind—and—"

"Bless my soul!" interrupted the old gentleman, his breath nearly taken away by the catalogue of enormities. "Bless my soul, you don't say so. And our Charles is married to such an amazon as this."

So this couple sat in a roomy porch of the capacious old farm house, with the Michigan roses tossing little billet-doux into their laps in scented showers, and the delicious odors of the fresh mown hay coming up from the meadow flats by the river, as miserable an old couple as you'd want to see.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Charles Remington, a bride of three weeks' standing, was making herself supremely happy at Niagara. She sat on a log, among the delicious shades and seclusions of Goat Island, that bright June day, with the lights and shadows chasing each other across her lovely face, and turning her long chestnut curls to coils of gold. Dressed in all white, she was fastening a wreath of wild flowers into the ribbon of her coquettish little hat, and singing some old ballad softly to herself.

Evlyn Remington was very handsome—neither blonde or brunette, she contrived to unite the charms of both in her rose-leaf complexion, bright hair and misty brown eyes; and the smiles dimpling her fresh, scarlet lips, were messengers straight from the heart.

Presently she was joined by her husband—a tall, handsome young fellow, in a white linen suit and graceful hat.

"Two letters, Evlyn," he said lightly, "and bad news in both."

"Bad news? Oh, Charles!" and the roses faded suddenly away from the bride's cheek.

"Well, not so very bad, and yet not pleasant. Read carrissima mia!"

He tossed into her lap a stiffly written letter, on one page of blue paper, signed "Able and Mary Remington," a keen expression of their disapproval of the marriage he had contracted, and an assertion of their determination never to receive his wife as a daughter.

Evlyn looked into her husband's face with her bright eyes full of tears.

"Oh, Charles, I am so sorry."

He laughed and quoted to her the old Scripture phrase: "A man shall leave his father and mother and cleave unto his wife."

"And now don't you want to see the other letter, Evlyn?"

It was a summons from the mercantile firm with which Charles Remington was connected, and an earnest entreaty that he would visit Central America, in their interests, immediately.

"Cool, isn't it, to request a bridegroom to walk off in that sort of way? for it is too rough a voyage to ask you to share it, dearest. I leave it for you to decide—shall I go or stay?"

"Go, by all means. Should I ask you to linger by my side, when duty calls you away, a poor wife I should be."

He kissed her flushed cheek with admiring tenderness.

"And where shall I leave you, my bonnie bride?"

"Oh, I will make a brief visit home in the meantime. It cuts our wedding tour short, but then you know we have a lifetime to finish our honey-moon in."

So the brief Niagara sojourn came to an end, and Mrs. Remington for the season, was a widowed bride.

"He will be back soon," said she to herself; "and in the meantime, oh, I must do so much."

"Yes," said old Mrs. Remington, complacently, "I think that was a splendid idea of yours, Abel, to send for Lot Chauncey's orphan to adopt. I'll teach Charles and his stuck-up wife that we're in earnest about what we wrote, and Marian Chauncy won't have no city airs and graces. I'm dreadful anxious to see her. Lot was a lovely looking fellow, and my cousin twice removed, and folks do say his wife was a regular built beauty. I think likely, she'll come by stage to-night."

"I think likely, there she is now," said Abel, who, sitting by the open window, caught the first glimpse of a slender figure coming up the path, and carrying a well filled carpet-bag, and Mrs Remington ran forward to kiss and welcome the new comer.

Marian Chauncey was exceedingly pretty—Mrs. Remington soon discovered that—a bright, little, winsone creature, with gold brown hair, that would curl, in spite of the restraining net, loving hazel eyes and tremulous red lips.

"Oh, Abel!" quoth the soft-hearted old lady, at the end of two days, "why didn't Charley wait until he had seen Marian Chauncey? Is she not sweet—don't it seem like a gleam of sunshine in the old house when she is tripping around?"

"She is very pretty," said Mr. Remington. "And then," pursued the old lady, "she's so handy. She knows just where everything is kept, and she does up my caps exquisitely, and you should have seen how skillfully she drove me to meeting yesterday. Oh, Abel, if Providence had only seen fit to send us a daughter-in-law like dear little Marian Chauncey."

Mrs. Remington's speech was cut prematurely short by the entrance of the subject with her apron full of eggs, and her hand full of flowers.

"Mrs. Remington," she begun, and then checking herself with abruptness—"Oh, I cannot call you by that long, formal name—may I say mother?"

"Of course you may, my darling," said the enthusiastic old lady, "I only wish you were my real daughter."

Marian laid down her flowers, deposited her store of pearly white eggs in a basket on the table, and then came up to Mrs. Remington, kneeling down and nestling her bright head in the old lady's check apron.

"Mother," she murmured softly, "you do not know how sweet the word sounds. And will you always love and cherish me, and let me be a real daughter to you?"

"I should be a hard-hearted old cormorant if I didn't, pet," said the old lady, her spectacles dimmed with tears.

In short, Marian Chauncey became the light of the old farm house, the bright little guardian genius of its ceiled rooms and wide airy halls. She read the papers to farmer Remington; she compounded cake, jelly, and syllabubs, to the astonishment and delight of the old lady—she kept the two china vases on the mantle, brimming over with the rain of roses; she knew by instinct just when to darken the room for the old man's afternoon nap on the wide chintz sofa, and she was better than ten doctors, when Mrs. Remington had one of the bad, nervous headaches.

"I really don't see how we ever continued to live without Marian," said the old gentleman.

"But she shall never leave us," said Mrs. Remington decidedly.

"Marian, little bright eyes, I've got news," called the old gentleman one morning, through the hall; "leave those honey-suckles for some one else to tie up, and come in here. Charles is coming home."

"To stay, sir?"

"No, not to stay—of course his fine city wife demands his permanent devotion." Mr. Remington could not help speaking with a sneer; "but he will spend the day here, on his way to New York. I should like you to see Charles—and I should like Charles to see you. Don't blush—if you are not better looking than his city wife she must be a paragon among women, that's all I've to say."

"When will he be here, sir?"

"In about an hour, I should judge from his letter—Charley always did write an awful scrawl—m's and n's just half alike, and half the time he forgets to cross his t's; but I suppose that's the fashion now-a-days!"

"But I don't think he will be angry!" said Marian in a half whisper, as she pinned a white rose in her breast, and prepared to descend in obedience to Mrs. Remington's call of—

"Marian, Marian, come down and see my boy."

Charles Remington stood in the middle of the floor with one arm around his radiant little mother, while the old gentleman, from his big easy chair, delightedly watched over the tableau, as Marian slowly advanced.

"Charles," said Mrs. Remington, beaming all over, "this is our new daughter, who—"

But Charles had sprung forward and caught the slight willing figure in his arms, while the golden hair floated in perfect cascade of curls over his shoulder.

"Evelyn! my wife!"

Mr. Remington stared at his wife. Mrs. Remington stared at her husband.

"He's mad," whispered the old man.

"Charles, he added aloud, "you are mistaken, this is Marian Chauncey, our adopted daughter."

"No, sir, it is not," faultered the young lady in question; "I am Evelyn, your son's wife. I have stolen into your hearts on false pretense—but I did so long for your love. And when you sent for Marian, who is one of my dearest friends, I persuaded her to remain at home, and allow me to personate her just for a few weeks. Father, mother, you will not turn me out of your affections now?"

"And you knew nothing of this!" demanded old Mr. Remington of his son."

"Not a word; it is Evelyn's own idea."

And Evelyn, half laughing, half crying, stole into her mother-in-law's extended arms.

"It don't seem possible that she is the city girl!" said the old gentleman. "Come here and give me a kiss, Ma—Evelyn, I mean."

"So, she is our real daughter, after all!" said proud Mr. Remington. Evelyn had conquered their prejudices with an enchanted wand of love.

PERJURY.—There is no crime which is oftener committed, and for which there is so seldom a conviction, as for perjury. In nearly every lawsuit, civil or criminal, there is more or less perjury committed. In cases which come before the Police Court, where criminals are charged with minor offenses, witnesses for the defense and prosecution almost invariably testify to opposite statements. It is hardly probable that in a majority of the cases perjury is not willfully committed. The law permitting a criminal to testify in his own behalf, is offering him an inducement to perjury himself. That law should certainly be repealed, for it is not probable that any criminal would by his own testimony, consign himself to punishment. It is very rare that an innocent man is convicted by perjury, but numberless scamps escape their just deserts, through the false testimony of their companions. It is a notorious fact that well know criminals, those who are ever breaking the laws, generally escaped punishment. In order that justice may be properly administered it is necessary to have a truthful statement of facts, but as is the case now in our Courts, it is almost impossible for any judge to render an equitable decision. Where a decision is rendered directly against the testimony, as it often is, the Judge being satisfied that their testimony was false, it should be his duty to have their cases brought before the next Grand Jury and investigated. It is only through the fear of punishment, that many witnesses can be forced to tell the truth, and a few convictions for perjury would tend to check the increase of this crime, which at present is of daily occurrence.—[Sacramento Record.

YOLO COUNTY DEMOCRAT.

SATURDAY, : : : : FEBRUARY 27, 1869.

L. P. FISHER, 20 and 21 New Merchant's Exchange, is our authorized agent in San Francisco. For Eastern Advertising, Mr. Fisher is represented by S. M. Pettengill & Co., of New York and Boston.

RADICAL COMPLAINTS.—It is somewhat amusing to notice the wailings of the Radical press in regard to the action of Mayor McCoppin, of San Francisco, in the matter of police appointments. It makes quite a material difference with these representatives of the "truly loyal" element whose political ox is gored. A recent number of the Chronicle, following in the wake of its more influential Radical cotemporaries, attempts a severe criticism of the Examiner's course in approving the action of the Mayor. That paper answers the complaints of its hypocritical adversary in the following words, which will apply with equal force in many other instances wherein a proscriptive party is demanding favors at the hands of its successful opponents:

Well, if he has put "honest Democrats" in office in place of "Radical police politicians," what right has any one to complain? Does any one believe that Grant will appoint any Democrat to office? Has Collector Miller any under him? Was a Radical dispenser of patronage ever known to put any but Radicals in office? What pitiful and contemptible whining is this on the part of a partisan press! They remind us of the couplet:

"When the devil was sick, the devil a monk would be;
When the devil was well, the devil a monk was he.

It was all right and proper when the Radicals had power to appoint none but partisans of their own persuasion to office, but when the tables are turned and the Democrats get in, it is terribly wicked to turn out the Radical pet lambs, and fill their places with Democrats. Pshaw! We are sick of this disgusting whining and disingenious complaining. When a single instance can be shown in the past eight years, where the Radicals have kept in office a Democrat, having the power to turn him out, it will then be time enough to talk about the proscription displayed in the appointment of policemen.

NOW AND THEN.—A few years ago we had statutes against immoral exhibitions of nude figures on the stage and also of indecent pictures in lewd books; but this is all changed now, and an enlightened public may gaze, week after week, at coming "dramatic" exhibitions of Black Crooks, White Fawns, etc., in which the whole story, plot and interest is secondary to the nude figures of what was formerly known as model artists. So, also, we find, lying around promiscuously, on library tables and in shop windows, pictorial papers filled with figures, showing how many pretexts may be found for gratifying the passions and making money by exhibiting the nude figures of women. In a recent pictorial, not content with the usual exhibitions of scenes in bed-rooms, brothels, and from the operas, we have representations of this and that celebrated belle among the skaters, in which we are given the extravagantly developed figures of several of the fair sex, dressed in silk tights, mounted on skates, and engaged in cutting odd figures on the ice of a fashionable skating rink, where the voluptuous beauties are watched by a throng of young men, modest girls, eminent ministers of the gospel, and other people of refinement, all of whom have paid the door-keeper fifty cents a-piece for a sight at this "exciting and healthy amusement." Some of us may be getting moderately old-fogyish; but a great many things are getting newer and newer every day that we live in these progressive times.

ORGANIZE FOR THE FIGHT.—Under the above heading, the Sonoma Democrat has the following:

San Francisco has set an example which we earnestly hope to see followed in every county in the State. We allude to the formation of "The Jeffersonian Society," a permanent political association for the "advancement of Democratic principles." This is a step in the right direction, and one very much needed. Every intelligent man knows that we lost the State last year simply because the party was not organized. The Democracy had a decided majority, and yet the Radicals won the fight. This result, so astonishing to everybody acquainted with California politics, and entailing the loss of an immense sum of money, was purely owing to a lack of organization in our party. We are aware that the Presidential ticket failed to meet the popular views of the Democratic masses, and that a large number took no interest in the contest, and did not go near the polls on election day. And right here thorough organization would have closed up the ranks, brought in stragglers, polled a full vote and carried the State by a handsome majority.

Let us not repeat past folly, but turn our bitter experience to profitable account. We have a big fight to make. We must be prepared, and no time is to be lost. Then let us effect a complete organization of the party, and make victory doubly sure.

ASTONISHING WRITER.—A Cincinnatti correspondent of the Washington Star compares the handwriting of a brother correspondent to a pound of fish-hooks spread over the palm of one's hand.

ABOVE THE CLOUDS.—Treasure City is said to be wholly above the clouds for weeks at a time. We know of several cities that are partly, at least, above the mud for months at a time.

IN BAD HEALTH.—A Washington correspondent says that Charles S. Fairfax, who is visiting his old friends in Virginia, is dangerously ill. It is thought he will never be able to return to California.

LUCRATIVE.—The business of sheep-raising in Sutter county pays well. The Banner estimates the number now owned in the county at 50,000, which is increasing at the rate of about 10,000 a year.

Crawford County System.

There is but little doubt that every honest member of either party has, at one time or another, admitted to himself that the present convention system of nominations, especially for local offices, was liable to be occasionally used injuriously to public morality and the interests of the people.

When the announcement was made that the Crawford county system was about happily to take the place of the old corrupt system, every honest heart was glad, and the wire-workers and leaders of rings trembled in their boots. We had at length invented something which was to enable the people themselves to have their sovereign will—the will of each man of them!

Dilating upon this benificient discovery, several journals, regardless of party lines, gave us the pleasing results of the new system in a recent municipal election in Oakland, as a beautiful illustration and vindication of its happy workings. One paper tells us that John B. Felton, the very best man in that part of the country, was nominated by all sorts of votes, almost unanimously. Another uses language equally exultant, but, to cool-headed lookers-on rather suggestive. It says: "At the primaries the ticket headed by John B. Felton was elected, without the scratching of a single name, while the opposing ticket was similarly left in the minority." Now, if the ticket upon which, for a header, appeared the name of the millionaire, Felton, followed by all the lesser names of Jenkins, Bliffkins, Bumble, and those other fellows, was swallowed whole and unscratched by the genuine simon-pure people themselves, how much better is this than the old convention system?

In a convention, if a member were to rise and nominate Mr. Felton and twelve other gentlemen, some other delegate would instantly pop up and move that the nominations be acted upon separately. And no amount of wealth or personal popularity on the part of Mr. Felton would induce that convention to nominate all the other twelve gentlemen on Mr. Felton's slate, simply because he happened to be a reliable man. The fact is, that all efforts to reform the present convention system will, we fear, be found impracticable, and the only one remedy will be that most difficult thing, a return to old-fashioned honesty.

OUR TULE LAND AS RICE FIELDS.—We have often had occasion to argue in favor of the speedy and extensive investment of capital and labor in the culture of rice on our broad and rich but now unproductive tule lands; and we have sometimes flattered ourselves that our arguments had so far prevailed as to engage the attention of men of enterprise and means; and we are more than ever confident that whenever the practicability of this important branch of domestic industry shall be examined with a view to actual results, all intelligent minds will convinced that no more promising channel of investment can be found on the Pacific coast. The tule lands can all, or nearly all, by cheap and simple engineering, and when reclaimed will be found easily cultivated; and when cultivated, will prove unsurpassed in productiveness by any other lands in the world. These lands can be reduced to cultivation at a cost not exceeding ten per cent. of the cost of reclaiming the sugar lands of Louisiana, or the rice lands of South Carolinia; while their annual yield would greatly exceed the product of any other rice fields in the world. The universal demand for, and regularity of the price of rice would speedily make it one of our leading and most profitable products and articles of export. If the culture were entered upon on a scale at all commensurate with the capacity of these lands to produce, the second or third crop would be sufficient to exclude all foreign rice, supply the home consumption, and leave a surplus for export; and a very few years would give to California rice as high and controlling a position in the markets of the world as is now held by California wheat, flour and wine; while the profits to the producers would be greater and more regular than those now drawn from the cultivation of other grains or crops.

We have reason to feel confident that, before the expiration of the present year, steps will have been taken to develop, upon a large scale, this new source of wealth and prosperity. And it is fit that Stockton and San Joaquin county should take the lead in so important and promising an enterprise.—[Stockton Gazette.

MARRIAGE OF LAURA CUPPY.—Mrs. Laura Cuppy, the noted Spiritualistic orator, was lately divorced from her husband, Fletcher Cuppy, in the District Court of El Dorado, and was directly after married to Mr. W. W. Smith, of Sacramento. The lady was first married to a Mr. McAlpine, a distinguished lawyer of Michigan, who committed suicide in consequence of having been defeated in an election for District Judge. A daughter and two sons were the result of this union. She afterwards married Mr. Fletcher Cuppy, who we believe is a clerk in the Post Office Department at Washington. This marriage appears to have been an unhappy one, and has ended as above related.—[Oakland Transcript.

GRAIN MARKET.—Thursday's Bulletin makes the following exhibit of the San Francisco grain market:

Wheat—Sales of 2,000 sks good milling at $1 70. Market quiet. We quote ordinary to good at $1 50@$1 70 and good to choice at $1 70@$1 75 ₱ 100 lbs.

Barley—540 sks good brewing, $2 20; 100 sks do. $2 20. We quote feed at $2 10 @$2 20 and brewing at $2 20@$2 30 ₱ 100 lbs.

Oats—100 sks Tomales, $2; 500 sks Oregone, $2 10. We quote California at $1 75 @$2 15, and Oregon at $2 10@$2 20 ₱ 100 lbs.

HOW TO STOP USING TOBACCO.—In a recently published pamphlet, Rev. Mr. Trask gives the following advice to tobacco chewers:

1. Make the most of your will. Drop tobacco, and resolve never to use it again in any form.

2. Go to the apothecary, and buy ten cents' worth of gentian root, coarsely ground.

3. Take as much of it after each meal, or oftener, as amounts to a common quid of "fine cut" or "cavendish."

4. Chew it well and swallow all the saliva.

5. Continue this a few weeks, and you will come off conqueror; then thank God, and thank us.

Congressional.

In our National Legislature, after the exciting and ruffianly action of the two houses while in joint session to count the Presidential vote, there appears to be a disposition to pretend to work on bills which may be termed practical and domestic. A member brings up something in the shape of real business, talks it over, is replied to it and improved upon by several other members, when suddenly the announcement is made that the special hour for some reconstruction abstractionist's hobby has arrived, the effect of which is to postpone the actual business of the day and give the wire-workers and fanatics the floor. The reports of the proceedings of these august bodies, although coming to the people through the medium of a corrupt telegraph and still more corrupt agents of the associated news "ring," cannot be pruned into shape that will give a tone of respectability and honesty to the would-be dictators. The impression is general, with both friends and foes, that this Congress is enacting the last tyrannies and infamies that will ever be permitted in our country. Even the most infamously ignorant and dishonest carpet-baggers in Congress admit that in the recent action in which Switzler, Democratic member elect from Missouri, was refused a seat, there was only one excuse or pretext to be offered, and that was, that no Copperhead had a right to a seat in a house in which there was a majority of Radical members.

These delectable creatures, who violate law whenever their purposes require it, will with extreme unction quote the law that a legislative body shall be the judge of the qualifications of its own members; but will not, unless pushed to the wall, admit that they intend to act upon the idea that even Radical dishonesty is better than the "treason" they see in Democracy.

In the case of the Missouri contested election, the House of Representatives, by a strict party vote, decided that Switzler, Democrat, should gave way to Anderson, Radical, notwithstanding a clear and unimpeachable Democratic majority. Old members voted their "loyalty" quietly and rather sheepishly, for they knew the full meanness and vileness of their act; but the unblushing carpet-baggers were proud of the opportunity to openly avow that their only law was fealty to Radicalism, regardless of honor, of oaths, of everything. This thing will come to an end some of these days.

NEW HAMPSHIRE DEMOCRACY.—In the recent State Convention of the Democracy of New Hampshire the following resolution received a unanimous vote:

Resolved, That the Democratic party of New Hampshire, in convention assembled, declare their adhesion to certain principles by them hitherto maintained, and which, in victory or defeat, they will never surrender: First—The paramount and binding authority of the Constitution over all departments of government and all States of the Union, to the extent of the powers therein granted. Second—The exemption of every State from any interference or control not clearly warranted by the Constitution. Third—The right of every State to an equal participation in the government, as guaranteed by the Constitution. Fourth—The separation and proper independence of the Executive, Legislative and Judiciary departments, as provided by the Constitution. Fifth—No privileged classes and no privileged capital. Sixth—An honest and economical administration of the government for the good of the people, and not in the interest of monopolists, and thieves, and plunderers of the public treasury and the national domain.

This resolution has the ring of the true metal, and in the language of an exchange, there is not a Democrat in the country who will not endorse every word of it. A majority of the voters in the Republican party will also approve the entire resolution, not because it is general, commonplace and susceptible of a half dozen different constructions, but because it declares what the daily management of the government shows to be essential to the safety and preservation of the Union under the Constitution.

The Democrats were beaten last fall by prejudices, which are daily dying out, and by money. The principles of the party were not condemned by a majority of the voters in the Northern States. No Republican newspaper, with any brains about it, will butt against a single statement in the resolution. Let Democrats be assured they are right and gaining strength every day.

CORK TREE.—The Tulare Times says: Mr. J. N. Thomas has a cork tree growing in his front yard, about three inches in diameter and twelve feet high, which grew from the seed, planted about seven years since. This is the first specimen of the cork tree we have ever seen. It is an evergreen and makes a beautiful shade and ornamental tree. The seeds were furnished by the Patent Office for the purpose of experimenting with it on this coast, and from the appearance presented by this one, we should think that it may be successfully cultivated in California.

As some do not appear to understand the proposition we made at the commencement of the present term, in regard to the monthly fee of fifty cents, we think it well to state again that if each scholar will pay fifty cents to the teachers at the close of each month, we can keep the school in session until about the middle of May, or after; but if this light tuition is not paid promptly, every month, we shall be compelled to close sooner, as we deem it unadvisable to have any indebtedness hanging over the school at its close.

County Official Paper.

TOWN AND COUNTY MATTERS.

FREAK OF NATURE.—Our friend, James Asberry, has among his property here in Woodland an animal whose sex it would be impossible to describe, even after the most careful inspection. Examine him, or her, or whatever it is, and you see a good-sized, well-formed calf, or heifer, with a rather pretty coat of white hair showing marks of good stock;—but what do you call it? Is it a male, or a female? Or neither the one nor the other? Woodland has no regular museum, nor have we any Barnum among us, but this "varmint" must be attended to. Any number of people who are fond of mooted points and difficult questions may find in this singular animal a splendid opportunity to lay down startling propositions and even to lay sensational wagers. For example, one adventurous individual—perhaps the betting-man told of by Mark Twain—looked at the animal for about an hour and then offered to make four distinct bets in regard to its sex, as follows: First, that it is not a male; second, that it is not a female; third, that it is both male and female; and fourth, that it is neither male nor female. It is very certain that the more the wonderfully constructed animal is examined, the more entirely impossible it becomes to determine that it belongs to either sex. It probably is unlike any other animal of its tribe ever before seen, but to the casual observer appears to be simply a well-developed white calf, or heifer, entirely unconscious of the strange freak of nature that will perhaps ultimately promote it from the private stable of Mr. Asberry to the exhibition-room of some of the Barnum tribe.

AGRICULTURAL.—A meeting of citizens interested in the organization of an Agricultural Society in this county was held at the Court House on Saturday evening last. The meeting was well attended and considerable interest was evinced in the proceedings. A copy of the minutes has been presented to us by E. Giddings, Secretary. The following are the names of the committee on organization: Jason Watkins, E. Giddings, Wm. Minis, George Geary, J. A. Hutton, C. C. Scott and Thomas Glasscock. Wm. Minis, J. M. Dickerson and G. W. Brown were appointed a committed on location. Another meeting will be held this evening. We have every reason to believe that the project will be a success, and that in less than a year from date a most creditable Agricultural Society will be complete in its organization and prepared to exhibit the rich resources of Yolo county. Let every one who feels an interest in the matter attend the meeting to-night.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTH-DAY.—This anniversary went off rather tamely. If George Washington had been George Francis Train, or Lucy Stone, or any of the other fellows now filling the public eye, he might have been still living in the memories of the people; but as he was simply the best and greatest human being that ever lived—a man before whose intrinsic greatness the glories of imperial Cæsar and selfish Napoleon pale into insignificance—his memory must, temporarily at least, yield to the all-engrossing matters now agitating the public. The Woodland Democratic Club apparently remembered that the natal day of the great Father of his Country was at hand, for they sent flying from the Court-house flag-staff the starry emblem of our nationality—that "hated rag" which at one time provoked the ire of such people as Greeley, Sumner, Phillips and their followers. We also hear of a dance given in Asberry's block during the evening, followed by a good supper at Gover's restaurant.

FINE BUILDING.—The fine three story brick hotel, built by A. S. House, on Main street, is almost completed. The proprietor expects to be prepared to receive his guests in about two weeks. There are in the building fifty-six elegant sleeping apartments, which will be neatly finished and supplied with all the modern conveniences. The halls, parlors, dining-rooms, etc., can scarcely be surpassed in the order of their arrangement for the comfort and accommodation of those who patronize the institution. The work on the building reflects great credit on the architect, M. O'Connell, as well as Fox & Conover, plasterers, and Anderson, painter and grainer.

RAILROAD MATTERS.—The railroad surveyors are near enough to Woodland to make it their headquarters for a short time, and, as the contract is let, we know that the iron-horse is inevitably coming. Some people are very angry because the track runs through their farms, while others are equally irritated and outraged because it does not run through theirs. But the iron-horse will come, in spite of human differences and conflicting interests. In the meantime, let us borrow no trouble from the circumstance, but bear steadily in mind that this county has abundant means to support not only a railroad, but all the collateral enterprises resulting therefrom.

WOODLAND BANK.—At the last meeting of the stockholders of the Bank of Woodland a Board of Directors, consisting of the following named gentlemen were elected for the ensuing term: F. S. Freeman, J. D. Stephens, Frank Miller, H. F. Hastings, Jeff. Wilcoxen, L. D. Stephens, J. Hollingsworth, C. Nelson and C. H. Bomynge. J. D. Stephens was elected President; F. S. Freeman, Vice President, and C. W. Bush, Cashier. The institution has opened for business under the most flattering auspices of future success.

IMPROVEMENTS.—In every part of our town the clangor of hammer and saw may be heard, and neat, useful and valuable buildings are daily growing into shape. At the Court-house, Clark Elliott is putting an inner lining to the Jail, which will render it a secure if not a desirable residence; and next week our neighbor, G. J. Overshiner, will commence certain alterations and strengthenings in the vaults of the county treasury. We do not have to send abroad for such heavy jobs, being well supplied with the skilled mechanics and constructors capable of executing it in good style and substantially.

THE FINE ARTS.—A very life-like portrait of a young lady, well known in Woodland, might have been seen for a day or two recently hanging in one of our Main street show-windows, attracting all manner of favorable and gratifying comments. Without attempting any elaborate criticism, we will merely remark that the portrait has the appearance of flesh and blood and life. We learn that it is from the atelier of J. Mills, and that there are others like it growing under the touch of his skilled hand.

YOLO AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—In another place we give a brief account of the doings of the meeting held last Saturday evening to organize an Agricultural Society. It will be seen, from the names of the gentlemen who have inaugurated this movement, that the organization is a fixed fact, and that Yolo is going to keep its rank among the agricultural and stock-raising counties.

NEW MASONIC LODGE.—A new Lodge of F. and A. M. was organized at Buckeye on Saturday last, T. C. Pockman presiding. The Lodge is known as "Buckeye Lodge U. D." The following are its officers: M. R. York, W.M.; E. Tadlock, S.W.; S. A. Howard, J.W.; M. O. Harling, Sec'y.

GONE EAST.—L. D. Stephens, an old resident of Yolo, left a few days since to visit his friends in the East. The good wishes of many friends will attend him on his journey.

SAN FRANCISCO ROUTE.—The steamer New World is being repaired very rapidly, with a new shaft much larger than the old one. She will take her place again for regular trips between San Francisco and Vallejo about the 1st of March. By that time the roads between this place and Davisville will be in good order, so that again we will be within easy, quick time of San Francisco and Sacramento.

PROTRACTED MEETING.—A protracted meeting will commence at the M. E. Church, in this place, on Thursday evening next. Rev. J. W. Ross, of Sacramento, will be present.

REMOVAL.—Dr. G. H. Jackson has located his office in the building occupied by Dr. Peirson, opposite Templar Block.

WATER AS A POISON.—To drink nothing but water in localities where it is notoriously deleterious, is madness. Such a course is not natinal temperance, but suicidal fanaticism. Even a change from one kind of water to another has an injurious tendency, though both may be tolerably wholesome. Qualify the draught in all such cases with Plantation Bitters, and no unpleasant consequences can possibly ensue. This agreeable vegetable tonic and antiseptic at once invigorates the stomach and neutralizes the effect of any poisonous or disturbing element that may exist in the spring or stream, or well, or pool, from which the fluid is taken.

ELECTRO SILICON.—This curious and valuable substance is confidently claimed to be the BEST ARTICLE ever discovered for cleaning and polishing Gold, Silver and Plated Ware, and all smooth metallic surfaces, of whatever description, including kitchen utensils of tin, copper, brass, steel, etc.

TO HEADS OF FAMILIES.—Are your little ones subject to croup? If so, don't fail to use NEWELL'S PULMONARY SURUP. A few doses given in time MAY SAVE THE LIFE OF A DARLING CHILD. Do not fail to have it on hand, if you would be safe and free from anxiety.

"IN TIME OF PEACE PREPARE FOR WAR."—So get a bottle of DR. E. COOPER'S UNIVERSAL MAGNETIC BALM, an unequalled preparation for Dysentery, Diarrhœa and Cramp. The instantaneous relief for Burns, Bruises and Sprains.

ESSENCE OF

JAMAICA GINGER!

This valuable preparation, containing in a highly concentrated form all the properties of Jamaica Ginger, has become one of the most popular domestic remedies for all diseases of the stomach and digestive organs.

As a tonic, it will be found invaluable to all persons recovering from debility, whether produced by fever, or otherwise; for while it imparts to the system all the glow and vigor that can be produced by wine or brandy, it is entirely free from the reactionary effects that follow the use of spirits of any kind.

It is also an excellent remedy for females who suffer from difficult menstruation, giving almost immediate relief to the spasms that so frequently accompany that period.

It gives immediate relief to Nausea, caused by riding in a railroad car, or by sea-sickness, or other causes.

It is also valuable as an external application for Gout, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, etc.

The Reasons for Insuring

—IN THE—

NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL

Life Insurance Company,

OF BOSTON.

By the Acts of Massachusetts, incorporated into the General Statutes of 1860 and 1864, a Policy of Life Insurance for the benefit of a Married Woman, or any person or persons specified, goes to them independently of the debts and liabilities of the party who effects the policy.

An Act to Regulate the Forfeiture of Policies of Life Insurance.

Be it Enacted, etc., as follows:

SECTION 1.—No Policy of Insurance on Life, hereafter issued by any Company chartered by the authority of this Commonwealth, shall be forfeited or become void by the non-payment of premium thereon, any further than regards the right of the party insured therein to have it continued in force beyond a certain period, to be determined as follows, to-wit: The net value of the policy, when the premium becomes due and is not paid, shall be ascertained, according to the "combined experience" or "actuaries'" rate of mortality, with interest at four per cent. per annum. After deducting from such net value any indebtedness to the company or notes held by the company against the insured, which notes if given for premium shall then be canceled, four-fifths of what remains shall be considered as a net single premium of temporary insurance, and the term for which it will insure shall be determined according to the age of the party at the time of the lapse of the premium, and the assumptions of mortality and interest aforesaid.

SECTION 2.—If the death of the party occur within the term of temporary insurance covered by the value of the policy, as determined in the previous section, and if no condition of the insurance, other than the payment of premium shall have been violated by the insured, the company shall be bound to pay the amount of the policy the same as if there had been no lapse of premium, anything in the policy to the contrary notwithstanding: provided, however, that notice of the claim and proof of the death shall be submitted to the company within ninety days after decease; and provided, also, that the company shall have the right to deduct from the amount insured in the policy the amount at six per cent. per annum of the premiums that had been forborne at the time of the death.

My Wealth.

Some count their wealth in golden dust,
In mansion proud and fine,
In waiving fields of yellow grain—
Not so do I count mine.
Not much have I of golden coin,
No palace proud and tall:
Yet, God has given me so much
I cannot count it all.

Some pass me by in haughty scorn,
In velvet robes and lace;
For all the tinsel show of wealth
I would not take their place.
I have no gold, yet I have wealth;
I gladly work all day;
While round my lowly cottage door
I see my child at play.

Her soft arms fondly round me clasped,
Love beaming in her eye;
I would not give one waxen touch
For all that gold can buy.
I smooth her long and shining hair
In rippling, silken fold;
Each golden coil is more to me
Than all your sordid gold.

God gives his children different gifts
We mortals know not why;
The richest lady in the land
Is not more blest than I.
I am content to work, to strive,
To struggle and endure:
For oh! with this rich gift of God
I never can feel poor.

THE BENEFITS OF THE FLOOD.—The Stockton Independent says: "It is a sorry wind that blows nobody good," which trite old axiom is peculiarly applicable to the results of the deluge in this section. Although the damage to property in the shape of undermining sidewalks, deluged cellars, flooded basements, disintegrated roads, and little mishaps of this character, were enough to indicate that a flood has visited us, still the loss is more than counterbalanced by the immense destruction made on the plains of gophers, mice, squirrels, and such pests to the farmer. They have been destroyed where the land was overflowed, "root and branch," and may be counted by thousands—in number almost sufficient to fertilize the land. In this city the rats and mice also suffered, and the boys had considerable fun in some quarters pelting the drowning creatures while fleeing from the flood. The ordent tribe is the greatest pest that afflicts us; yet it is more than probable that for every one of them, a hundred mosquitoes will take his place.

A COUPLE of fish-wives, being on their way homeward one evening, after they had imbibed rather more than enough, one of them lay down on the beach and fell asleep. Her slumbers, however, were destined to be of short duration; for the tide began to flow, and as some of the briny water was dashed into her mouth, she started up and ejaculated: "Gosh, Betty, I think it's really about time we were steering oot o' this hoose; for I jist bet they're beginning to change the drink on us."

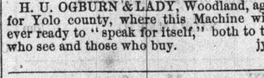
$1.000 Reward for its Equal!



THE NEW

WEED
SEWING MACHINE!

Just completed, in SOLID STEEL MACHINERY, and combining in ONE the good of ALL!

This most enterprising Company has certainly brought out

THE BEST SEWING MACHINE EVER MADE!

And indeed is the ONLY NEW Sewing Machine, of any name, manufactured for the last eight years. Even a superficial observer can easily see that it surpasses all others, at least in the simplicity and durability of its machinery, and its remarkable

EASE OF MOTION AND MANAGEMENT.

It has few pieces, and all of steel. It makes the complete "Lock Stitch," the same on both sides, which will not ravel. Every Machine is warranted to sew from and of course can never be got out of order by "hard sewing." ☞ All repairs free of charge. Prices same as others.

Thinest Lace, to Double Harness Leather!

PLEASE NOTICE.

The claims of the Florence Company for the First Premium at the great Paris Exposition of 1867, though seeming true in letter, is really false in spirit and intent, and calculated greatly to deceive the public. Although it did receive the Silver Medal—that being the highest award given—it was not awarded the FIRST RANK! This was awarded the Weed Sewing Machine, and to the WEED only, as being "first in the order of merit." The second place was given to an European Machine, and only the third to the Florence! But the claim of the Wheeler & Wilson Company, at this Fair, is a great outrage, both as to letter and spirit; at least so much of it as pertains to their Gold Medal upon their Family Machine, which, to speak plain, is purely imaginary, they having received—as is well known—their Gold Medal on their "Button-hole Machine," but nothing at all on their "Family Machine;" not even a bronze medal, nor indeed (what is worse) even an "honorable mention." (See official report.) See also, as to the new WEED Sewing Machine, the returns of the State Fairs of Pennsylvania, Illinois, New Hampshire and New York, for 1867, at each of which the NEW WEED "F. F." Sewing Machine was pronounced the BEST, and received the highest premium given. And so also at other Fairs, and indeed wherever the Company shall choose to exhibit the "strong points" of this really magnificent Machine.

S. E. HOAR, General Agent,

Office No. 8 Montgomery street, San Francisco.

H. U. OGBURN & LADY, Woodland, agents for Yolo county, where this Machine will be ever ready to "speak for itself," both to those who see and those who buy. jy4-1y

IF you want a genuine American Gold or Silver Watch, call on the new firm of RUGGLES & MACHEFERT.

G. J. OVERSHINER,

CARRIAGE AND WAGON

MANUFACTURER,

Main street, (opposite Gray & Freeman's,)

WOODLAND.

I would call the attention of the public to this well-known shop, where I manufacture to order and keep constantly on hand for sale

Carriages,
Buggies,
Sulkies,
CONCORD-STYLE THOROUGHBRACE

—AND—

LUMBER WAGONS,

—FROM THE—

BEST EASTERN MATERIAL,

Selected by myself!

All work manufactured at my shop is under my own immediate supervision, and up to the requirements of the times, of the latest style, and the most

APPROVED PATTERNS AND FINISH!

I employ no "foreman," for 30 years' experience in the trade—10 years in the Eastern States, 20 years on the Pacific coast, (including 9 years superintendence of the "Pioneer Carriage Shop," Sacramento,) justifies me in assuming that position. Delegating to none the supervision of my work, I am enabled to Guarantee Satisfaction!

My LARGE and SPACIOUS SHOPS enable me to store large quantities of material, and my

SEASONING FACILITIES,

(the only perfect seasoning apparatus on the coast) enable me to defy competition in quality of seasoned work. For verification of above, one has only to examine my facilities in this line, and compare them with those in other shops. I do not pursue the course adopted by many; on the contrary, I season stock before working, and do not put up green stock in wheels, leaving them to season afterwards. I have and keep on hand a large stock of

OAK and HICKORY SPOKES,

of all sizes and the finest material the market affords. Also a large variety of Elm and Locust Hubs.

Having given the Oak Hub a fair trial, I have become convinced that they are unfit for first-class work. Parties who may favor me with their patronage may be assured that

No green oak hubs will be found in my work!

In this connection I would call particular attention to my NEW STYLE LOCUST HUB, turned from my pattern, and imported expressly for this trade and Found only at my Shop!

Also made to order all kinds of

FARMING IMPLEMENTS!

Plows,
Harrows, &c

I have now on hand Harrows of all sizes, with STEEL TEETH, superior to the imported article. In short, I am prepared to fill all orders, from a Wheelbarrow to a Hornet's Nest.

The PAINTING and TRIMMING DEPARTMENT is equal to the best, and particular attention is paid to repairing and trimming old work.

BLACKSMITHING,

In all its branches, is connected with the wood-work, and both are under my supervision.

I have on hand, for sale,

Plow-beams and Handles,
Neckyokes,
Singletrees,
Stretchers,
Clevises,
Fifth-chains,
Lap-Rings,
Harrow-Teeth,
Etc., Etc.

All kinds of Plow and Wagon repairing done with neatness and dispatch. Determined to adhere to my long-established rule of manufacturing only the Best Work from the Best Stock, and having served my time at the two branches of carriage-work, (wood and iron) enables me to guarantee satisfaction in all cases, and to know, as foreman of my own shop, when work is WELL DONE.

To those who have heretofore dealt at other shops, and consequently are unacquainted with my work, I would say GIVE ME A CALL and examine my stock and work. Believing that the surest test of the value of my work can be had in the verdict of those who use it, I respectfully refer the public to

The following named Gentlemen who have and now are using Wagons and Buggies of my manufacture: E. Giddings, J. Lauggenour, J. Aldrich, Mr. High, H. Rhoades, Mr. Taylor, J. Jones, L. B. Ruggles, Gray & Freeman, J. Garoutte, Fleishman & Kaufman, Ed. Moses, S. & M. Hyman, George Scott, Mr. Ludden, Mr. Olds, Mr. Lusk, Mr. Hurlbut, R. Fritz, J. Lane, Wm. Davidson, and a host of others whose names can be given if required

☞ Thankful for past patronage, I respectfully solicit a continuance of the favor.

Main street, Woodland.

HELMBOLD'S BUCHU.

The only Known Remedy

—FOR—

Diabetes, Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder, Inflamation of the Kidneys, Catarrh of the Bladder, &c., &c., &c.

For these diseases, it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. Are you troubled with that disgusting pain in the small of the back and through the hips? A teaspoonful a day of Helmbold's Buchu will relieve you.

Physicians and Others

PLEASE NOTICE.

I make no secret of ingredients. Helmbold's Extract Buchu is composed of Buchu, Cubebs and Juniper Berries, selected with care, prepared in vacuo and according to the rules of Pharmacy and Chemistry.

These ingredients are known as the most valuable Diuretics afforded. A Diuretic is that which acts upon the Kidneys. Helmbold's Extract Buchu acts gently. It is pleasant in taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and immediate in its action. For the satisfaction of all, see Medical Properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:

"BUCHU. Its odor is strong, diffusive and somewhat aromatic, its taste bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, chronic catarrh of the Bladder, morbid irritation of the Bladder and Uretha, diseases of the Prostrate, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, chronic Rheumatism, cutaneous affections and Dropsy."

For further information see Professor DEWEES valuable works on the Practice of Physic. See remarks made by the celebrated Dr. Physic, of Philadelphia. See any and all standard works on Medicine.

Dr. Keyser is a physician of over thirty years experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical college and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia:

Mr. H. T. HELMBOLD—Dear Sir: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion about Buchu, I would say that I have used and sold the article in various forms for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form or preparation of it I have not used or known to be used, in the various diseases where such medicate agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys; and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts. I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves, the simple decoction, tincture fluid extracts; and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Eighteen years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits, and without prejudice or partiality I give yours precedence over all others. I value your Buchu for its effects on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, more diseases of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu, or any other proprietory compound of whatever name. Respectfully yours, etc.,
GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D., 140 Wood st.
Pittsburg, Pa., August 11, 1865.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU.

FROM THE LARGEST MANUFACTUPING CHEMIST

IN THE WORLD.

I am acquainted with H. T. Helmbold; he occupies the drug store opposite my residence, and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise. WM. WEIGHTMAN, (firm of Powers & Weightman), Manufacturing chemists, Ninth and Brown streets, Phila.

The proprietor has been induced to make this statement from the fact that his remedies, although advertised, are genuine preparations, and knowing that the intelligent refrain from using anything pertaining to Quackery, or the Patent Medicine order—most of which are prepared by self-styled doctors, who are too ignorant to read a physicians' simplest prescription, much less competent to prepare Pharmaceutical preparations. These parties resort to various means of effecting sales, such as copying parts of advertisements of popular remedies and finishing with certificates. The science of medicine stands simple, pure and majestic, having fact for its basis, induction for its pillar, truth alone for its capital.

A Word of Caution.

Health is most important; and the afflicted should not use an advertised medicine, or any remedy, unless its contents or ingredients are known to others besides the manufacturer, or until they are satisfied of the qualifications of the party so offering.
